LIBRARY BOARD SEEKING MORE FINANCIAL AID

Financial problems occupied the attention of the directors of the Adams County Free Library at their two-hour meeting Friday evening when they set the date for the annual meeting and voted a memorial of books in honor of Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, a former president and more recently an honorary member of the library board.

Gathered at the main library on E. High St., the library board looked for close to $1,600 to meet operating expenses to the end of the year while $260 in book bills were held up temporarily.

The directors discussed methods of following up the financial appeal made by mail to businesses, organizations and individuals outside of Gettysburg last month and means of getting broader financial support from schools, borough councils, the county or other sources.

Meeting January 22
Discussion brought out the approaching need for further expansion of the library quarters, the need for speeding up reductions of the mortgage which will run for 2-years at its present rate of retirement, the need for staff and salary increases while circulation continues to grow rapidly. Immediate action on follow-up work on the finance drive was put in the hands of the Finance committee.

To permit more time for preparation of annual reports, the date for the annual meeting was moved back to January 22 and this committee was placed in charge of arrangements by President C. P. Keefe: Mrs. Leon Ross and Miss Ann Faber, co-chairmen; Donald Becker, Mrs. Ira Henderson, Prof. and Mrs. Francis Reinberger and Mrs. Frank Hewetson.

The board voted to place the first four volumes of the University of Michigan's History of the Modern World, edited by Allen Nevins and Howard R. Ehrman, as a memorial to Mrs. Lewars. The volumes, to appear this fall, already are on order. Ten other volumes are to follow later.

Circulation Up 20 Per Cent
The report of the librarian, Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, announced other memorial books for Mrs. Lewars from Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Schmidt and the Xi Alpha Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Other memorials were given by the Misses Ant and Nina Morrow for Percy Miller and the Torch club for Dr. Duck.

Mrs. Wilson's report on circulation with no school loans yet reported for the current school year showed general circulation, chiefly at the main library, increased by 1,000 over the same month last year. The total for September, 1957, was 1,000 above that for the same month in 1956, Mrs. Wilson noted.

Total circulation last month was 6,051 with 5,009 at the main library. The other loans were at (Continued On Page 3)

CHEST TOTAL NOW $9,768

The Gettysburg Community Chest has passed the one-third mark in its campaign to raise $26,800, William A. Lentz, campaign chairman, announced today.

Donations and pledges from 137 persons were received Friday night at the Community Chest office in the Red Cross office, Baltimore St. boosting the total to $9,768, an increase of $1,367 over Thursday's report. Lentz urged canvassers to complete their solicitation over the weekend and report Monday. The Community Chest office is closed today and Sunday, but will be open on Monday to receive the reports of the solicitors who began their house to house canvass last Monday.

Reports are also sought from the solicitors engaged in the industrial and other sections of the annual canvass. Most canvassers wait until they have seen all of the persons on their lists but Lentz asked a partial report if necessary on Monday.

Persons who were away from home when canvassers called may send their contribution direct to Community Chest, Lentz said. A report on the campaign will be presented this evening at 8:30 o'clock over WGCT by the president of the Chest, Gordon Webster.

JUDGE DEPUY REFUSES MOVE ON NEW TRIAL

Judge Chauncey M. Depuy, sitting especially in the appeal in the action in trespass brought by Goldie E. Stevens, York Springs R. 2, against Naomi Chronister, Gardners R. 1, and Jewell A. Gantz, Aspers R. 1, Friday afternoon handed down an opinion in Adams County court dismissing Gantz's motion for a new trial or judgment notwithstanding the verdict.

Judge had made the appeals after an Adams County jury handed up a verdict directing that Mrs. Stevens should be paid $6,000 in damages by Mrs. Chronister and Mr. Gantz.

The original case grew from an accident November 16, 1955, on Route 334 about four miles north of Biglerville at 6:30 a.m. Mrs. Stevens, with five other women in her car as passengers, was driving to work. Mrs. Chronister was also enroute to work with one woman as a passenger in her car and Gantz was driving alone in a pick-up truck. The road was wet, the weather damp and foggy and the vehicles were using their lights.

Mrs. Chronister was driving south, Mrs. Stevens north. Gantz was at first parked in front of his home and then pulled out into the highway, traveling in the same direction as Mrs. Chronister's car.

Was Awarded Damages
Mrs. Chronister swung into the northbound lane of the highway, she said, to avoid hitting the slow moving truck pulling into the road ahead of her. Mrs. Chronister's car crashed head on into Mrs. Stevens' vehicle. Gantz's truck was not involved in the accident, but stopped a short distance down the highway.

Mrs. Stevens was awarded damages for injuries, loss of work, and damage to her car. Gantz held in argument before Judge (Continued On Page 3)

Pope To Be Buried In Sarcophagus In Grotto Beneath The Basilica Of St. Peter

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ
VATICAN CITY (AP)—The side doors of St. Peter's basilica swung open shortly after dawn today, admitting lines of mourners who filed silently past the body of Pope Pius XII.

The opening of the doors signaled the beginning of a solemn nine-day period of mourning and tribute and daily Requiem Masses in the great basilica.

The rising sun glinted through the windows of the massive dome, adding to the illumination given off by 25 tall candles that surrounded the red-draped catafalque on which the pontiff's body lay in the center of the church.

Burial On Monday
The earthly remains of the Pope were borne into the basilica late Friday afternoon after a stately two-mile long procession through the Eternal City from Castel Gandolfo, where he died Thursday. Nuns and priests of the Vatican staff prayed throughout Friday night by the earthen-draped coffin.

HERE AND THERE

Those who have heard the Gettysburg Symphony orchestra will testify that Gettysburg can be proud that this splendid orchestra bears its name. It is Gettysburg's good fortune to be centered in an area that has talented musicians and a keen sense of music appreciation—two of the factors necessary for the development of such an organization. Beyond this, it is the area's particularly good fortune that Dr. William Sebastian Hart, prominent among "Who's Who in Music," selected Gettysburg as the home of the fine orchestra he envisioned and of which he is the founder and musical director.

That Dr. Hart is a director with genius, and that members of the orchestra are musicians of talent and ability, is clearly indisputable when it is noted that each of the excellent concerts was preceded by only six rehearsals.

The orchestra is a fact accomplished. Dr. Hart said it could be done and he did it. The community's congratulations go to him and the 85 members of the orchestra. It is a splendid organization. (Continued On Page 9)

OYLER ORCHARD IS FEATURED IN MAGAZINE

The story of the cherry orchard operations of Thomas O. Oyler, Gettysburg R. 3, is featured in the current edition of The American Fruitgrower, national fruitgrowers magazine.

The story is an "all-Adams County" production. It was written by Dr. Frank N. Hewetson, of the Arendtsville Fruit Research Laboratory. Appearing under the title: "Red Cherries Are Tom Oyler's Pride," the article is illustrated with three photographs: one showing Oyler using a rotary cutter for mowing, another showing a sprayer in operation and another showing the checking of cherries to remove defective cherries and stems.

Two of the pictures were taken by Dr. Hewetson and the other by Mrs. H. Thomas Pyle.

"Outstanding Grower"
The article states: "Fellow growers recognized Tom as an outstanding cherry grower when they elected him president of the Pennsylvania Red Cherry Growers Association for three years, from 1950 through 1952."

The piece begins with "Red cherry pie. Who has not tasted this delicious dessert and wanted more? Tom Oyler, of Adams County, south central Pennsylvania, does not make the pies, but he certainly can grow the cherries that make everybody ask for a second piece of pie."

Oyler has 368 acres of orchards, 52 in red cherries and the remainder in apple and peach. Average production of cherries is about five tons per acre.

Mulcahy will preach for the pilgrims.

Pioneer Expected To Reach Vicinity Of Moon In Two And One-Half Days

This drawing of approximately distances from earth to moon during mid-October was prepared by the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium in New York, obviously not to scale. October 13 is date on which moon is closest to earth. Dotted line indicates orbit a rocket might travel if there were no disturbing influences of sun and moon. The rocket was fired today. With the moon more than two days away, gravitational attraction of the moon will deflect it into orbit indicated by solid line. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Japan To Get Unusual Gift

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A strange and expensive "missionary" — described as packing more power than any preacher — was being readied today for service in Japan. It's an atomic reactor. It will cost a half million dollars.

The Protestant Episcopal Church's General Convention laid plans for sending the unusual gift to the Orient, and also prepared to elect a new presiding bishop this morning. The project to give St. Paul's University in Tokyo a nuclear reactor for "peaceful study, research and medical therapy" was cited as a means for a "powerful Christian witness in Japan."

Local Girl Edits Paper At Hospital

Miss Joy Anne Fair, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair, 645 S. Washington St., has been named editor of "Our World," the newspaper published by the children at Elizabethtown Children's Hospital.

Miss Fair, who completed her Freshman year at Gettysburg High School last year, is now a student at the school conducted at the hospital while undergoing treatment for a curvature of the spine.

While in a cast since her arrival at the hospital August 18, she has been able to write and be about the hospital paper shortly after her arrival there. This week she was named editor of the newspaper.

She had a 41-degree curvature of the spine when she entered the hospital. As a result of use of casts the degree of curvature has been reduced to 28. Physicians plan to use casts for another month before performing an operation to straighten the spine.

Mercury Tumbles 36 Degrees Here

A 36-degree drop overnight from a summery 82 degrees Friday afternoon brought the mercury to a chilly 46 degrees early this morning in Gettysburg. A cold air front from Canada got the credit for the sudden change. Friday was the second consecutive day in which the mercury had gone above the 80-degree mark here after sinking to a new low for the fall of 31 degrees on Monday morning.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The moon rocket launched here early today has escaped into space. The Air Force announced this at 5 a.m. EST.

It was the first man-made object known to have achieved free flight. It will take 2 1/2 days for it to reach the vicinity of the moon, assuming all goes well from now on.

The Air Force also announced the christening of the rocket payload with the name Pioneer.

The Air Force announcement said that after the first 60 minutes of flight into outer space, signals from the instrumented payload indicated that Pioneer was proceeding on course at approximately the planned velocity.

"Interpretation of data received is proceeding on schedule," the Air Force said in a statement.

"Many Difficulties"
"However, it must be emphasized that there exist many difficulties and time lags in its analysis."

Pioneer thus joins the other U.S. space vehicles, Explorer satellites I and II launched by the Army and the Navy-launched Vanguard. The missile thundered aloft at 3:42 a.m. EST, exactly on schedule.

It was the first of the many space vehicle launchings to achieve that degree of promptness.

The mighty first-stage engine, pouring out 150,000 pounds of thrust, burned brilliantly through a star-filled sky for 2 1/2 minutes.

Follow Progress Easily
The progress of the 88-foot three-stage missile could be plainly followed.

Watchers from the missile test center here tracked its course through the clear sky and saw the flare of the second stage.

The missile's fading light could be followed only a few seconds longer.

By the time the third stage ignited, the lunar probe was far beyond the reach of the human eye.

But instruments aboard the vehicle reported back faithfully by radio. Ten minutes after the launching, the Air Force announced that all the stages had fired properly and that the waiting game began.

Start Around Moon

Sometime Tuesday the probe may approach within 50,000 miles of the moon and start around it to scan the far side.

Project scientists did not expect to hit the moon, some 221,000 miles away. About the best they hoped for was to get the payload within 50,000 miles of the moon, and possibly into orbit around it.

One Rocket Blew Up

An earlier moon rocket, fired Aug. 17, blew up a little over a minute after it left the launching pad at this missile test center.

Shortly after today's moon rocket roared into a starry sky, there were reports of signals being picked up.

In Southampton, N. Y., engineers at International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. reported hearing signals at 3:45 a.m.

Another report was that a tracking station at Jodrell Bank, Manchester, England, had picked up a signal from the vehicle at 3:52 a.m.

Successful Firing

Ten minutes after launching, the Air Force announced all stages of the rocket had fired successfully.

"The launching of the experimental lunar probe vehicle has now been accomplished," the announcement said.

It added that further information on the progress of the test would be reported as data was transmitted to the tracking stations.

A simultaneous announcement from the Defense Department in Washington said "The launching of the experimental lunar probe vehicle has now been accomplished."

Official Announcement

At Washington, the Air Force, in direct connection with Cape Canaveral, called off the final moments of the firing. The first word at 3:42 a. m. was "main stage liftoff normal," followed by a few seconds, then, "programming normally," and then "continuing on course."

The official announcement said: "The United States launched a three-stage experimental space vehicle at the Atlantic missile range at Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 3:42 a. m., EST, this morning."

"The launching was accomplished by the Air Force under direction of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. (Continued On Page 3)

Bulletin Board At Court House

Candidates for the first time in 156 years have a proper place at the court house to display their posters.

This year the commissioners and court house custodian have placed a six-foot 2½-foot wide bulletin board where the politicians can put their posters.

Pioneer Is Expected To Reach Vicinity Of Moon In Two, One-Half Days

It was the second flight test of a number of small unmanned space vehicles designed to gather scientific data as a part of the U. S. International Geophysical Year program which is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Scientific Payload
"The vehicle is composed of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile as the first stage—or booster—a modified Vanguard second stage, and an advanced version of the Vanguard third stage. Topping this vehicle is a highly instrumented scientific payload."

The launching vehicle, which weighs more than 100,000 pounds, was the same Thor-Able combination that tried—and failed—to send a lunar probe into space Aug. 17.

Failure In Propulsion
The first moon rocket exploded 77 seconds after launching. This was attributed to a failure in the propulsion system of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile that was the rocket's first stage. Thor is the Air Force's 1,700-mile range ballistic missile.

Specialists checked over the new rocket's Thor stage inch by inch before approving it for today's firing.

Since the moon is about 221,000 miles out in space and is orbiting along at an average speed of 2,287 miles an hour, it was necessary to aim the rocket a point 137,000 miles ahead of the moon's course.

25,000 MPH
The aim is to get the lunar probe and the moon somewhere near each other after 2½ days of rocket flight.

The rocket—with an engine capable of generating 150,000 pounds of thrust—had to attain a velocity of 25,000 miles an hour in order to escape the earth's gravitational field and move on out into space.

Tracing stations around the world were primed to report on the rocket's progress toward the moon. Washington planned to release official bulletins on this every six hours.

Touch Off New Thrust
If all went well, tracking stations in Hilo, Hawaii, would send a signal 2½ days after launching. This signal would touch off a 3,000-pound thrust retro rocket to give the package a course angle and speed as it approached to within 50,000 miles of the moon. The scientists hope that if the rocket got this close it would orbit the moon, at the most for a week.

Then it might stray out of the moon's weak grasp and move into distant space, toward the sun. Or it might fall back toward earth and be burned up in the atmosphere.

Batteries Last 2 Weeks
Its chemical radio batteries were designed to last about two weeks. Air Force scientists said they would be more than happy with just a week of reports.

Data relayed automatically back to earth would include the number of impacts with meteorites, the intensity and extent of magnetic fields of the earth and the moon, the temperature within the payload, and the thrust chamber pressure of the terminal rocket. The pressure data would be required as an indication of whether the terminal rocket fired. This terminal or satellite stage was the one thoroughly sterilized 24 hours before the firing, on the very remote chance it might hit the moon.

Fear Contamination
The action was taken at the urging of scientists who feared contamination of the moon's surface before man can explore it.

The sterilization was done at a laboratory at the missile test center here. The terminal stage was completely disassembled and bathed thoroughly in germ killing ultraviolet radiation. Then it was reassembled by workers in special gowns, using tools that had been dipped in chlorophenyl.

JUDGE DEPUY
Deputy and Judge W. C. Sheely April 28 in Adams County court that he was in no way responsible for the accident, that the weight of the testimony showed he had started out and was some distance down the highway before the accident occurred and that there was no need for Mrs. Chronister to swing her car into the opposite lane. He held that as a result he should be freed of the verdict against him or granted a new trial to prove his lack of responsibility in the affair.

Judge DePuy in his eight-page opinion holds "Mr. Gantz has a natural interest in enlarging the space of time in order to show that he had already left the scene so that he could not be held responsible for any action which may have brought about the unfortunate collision.

Upholds Jury Verdict
"In our view this testimony does not remove him totally from the area of responsibility for the ultimate collision.

"Under Gantz's own testimony he passed the Stevens car 75 to 100 feet south of his house and the accident occurred 60 feet south of his house. Therefore Gantz would have been only 15 to 40 feet ahead of the Chronister car at the time of the accident. While the Chronister car was proceeding more rapidly than the Gantz car, it appears that the Chronister car was reasonably close to the Gantz home when Gantz pulled out. The issue was, in our view, fairly submitted to the jury and they having found negligence on the part of both defendants, we are not disposed to set aside their conclusion.

Charles F. Hartlaub, Hanover R. 2, was ordered to pay $10 per week for the support of two minor children, pay the costs and enter into the usual $500 bond following a support hearing.

Bring Court Action On $1,361 Claim

A complaint in a foreign attachment has been filed with the county prothonotary by Attorney John A. MacPhail for Frank L. Bowersox Sr., Frank L. Bowersox Jr., Ralph C. and Donald E. Bowersox, trading as Gettysburg Garment Co., 106 N. Stratton St., against Joseph S. Cohen and Sons Co., Inc. of New York City and 55 York St.

The complaint alleges that the Cohen Co. owes Gettysburg Garment Co. $1,361.62 for the making of garments. The local company alleges that on April 14, the Cohen Co. asked the Gettysburg Garment Co. to make garments from material supplied by Cohen for $6.75 a dozen. The complaint alleges that in addition belt loops were made costing $15 at the request of the Cohen Co. A total of 190½ dozen garments, "as ordered," were delivered to the Cohen Co. at its 55 York St. place of business, according to the complaint, but no payment has been received.

branches and book stations. Last month 250 books were added to the library's collection, 37 of them by donations.

Furnace Fund Donors
The financial report showed $471 received from the special appeal for funds last month in addition to $60 reported from the New Oxford Lions club Friday evening. Fines and replacements brought in $109.95. The board approved for payment bills totaling nearly $2,200 including a $556 payment to the Internal Revenue Service.

A report to the board showed where the funds came from to pay for the new heating plant installed at the library during the summer. The gifts covered the $1,803.64 paid to the Aero Oil Company and $11.55 for some special carpentry work necessary to locate one radiator. The donors were D. E. Winebrenner III, $25; Clarence P. Keefe, $1,100; Alwine Brick Company, $50; Mrs. John Rice, $25; E. C. Livingston, Inc., $25, and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Long, $600. Letters of thanks have gone to the donors.

TEN YEARS AGO
20 Chest Fund Solicitors To Begin Saturday: Nearly 200 solicitors on Saturday will begin a ten-day drive to raise $19,000 for the Gettysburg Community Chest.

With this the first year that the borough has a Community Chest solicitors will spend much of their time in explaining that the Community Chest drive replaces six other campaigns for funds which would have been held this year if there had been no Community Chest organized.

They are heartened however by the fact that national and local publicity has made most Gettysburg residents conscious of the need for Community Chest contributions.

The Community Chest campaign this year calls for the raising of $900 for the Civic Nursing Association, $2,150 for Boy Scouts, $2,700 for Girl Scouts, $1,750 for the Adams County Free Library, $2,000 for the YWCA, $5,000 for current expenses of the Gettysburg Recreation Association, $1,500 for permanent improvements by the Gettysburg Recreation Association plus $1,000 for contingent fund and expenses.

Today's Talk

LOOK TO GOD
One of the most inspiring statements in the New Testament is this one: "Let not your heart be troubled." In Christ's ministry He was forever seeking to have those who followed Him increase their faith, and to put that faith in God. Whenever He thought that His followers were losing that faith, Jesus tried to bolster it up. And that is probably the source for this beautiful statement, "Let not your heart be troubled."
Whenever I think of that imperative, I think of my mother and her love for all who ever came in contact with her. If a tiny hurt came, or some imagined sorrow to me when but a few years of age, she would say: "Never mind. It's almost well right now." Endless times I have repeated that line that has brought such comfort to humanity — "Let not your heart be troubled." Many a time that line has brought a new light into my heart.

What a wave of faith would sweep over the earth if everyone took as his or her motto this inspiring saying of Jesus. "Let not your heart be troubled." Can't you imagine those who listened losing all their fear at its utterance? Where in all literature or religious publications is there such food for the spirit? What quieting words those of Jesus must have been. Indeed all His words were comforting and uplifting.

Read the Beatitudes, one of the eight declarations of special blessedness in the Sermon on the Mount. To me these comprise one of the most beautiful things in the New Testament. Each Beatitude grows more beautiful with each reading. To read them all is to look to God.

Just Folks

THE HUMAN TOUCH
Smiles light up a thousand roads.
Wherever you choose to tread
You'll hear men singing 'neath their loads.
The while they trudge ahead.

It matters not what way you go
The sound of laughter rings,
And soon or late your heart will know
The joy that friendship brings.

You cannot, while you live on earth
Where mortal men abide,
Escape the signs of honest mirth —
The glow on every side.

Wherever men have dared to fare,
However far the miles,
They've carried joy and friendship there
And lit the way with smiles.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit area polio epidemic has claimed two more lives to bring the total for the year thus far to 19. Detroit has recorded 561 cases so far this year, compared to 174 in the same 1957 period. The total for the city and Wayne County now is 733.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (A) — Character Actor Jack Warden and French actress Wanda DuPre are honeymooning today.

Friday's ceremony, by adjutant of the peace, was the first Warden, 38, and the third for Miss DuPre, 31.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Gorton, a pitcher now on the Philadelphia Phillies' disabled list, has a role in "Rough Riders," a new ABC-TV program which began Oct. 2.

The 24-year-old Gorton, a cousin of actor Jack Palance, was a star athlete at Villanova in both football and baseball. Gorton injured his hand in a game with Cincinnati earlier this season.

Springs' telephones — or nearly all of them — rang at the same time Thursday evening about 7 o'clock and the same instant electric current to most of the borough and a considerable rural area around the town was cut off.

The cause of the utilities' difficulties was the snapping of an electric company pole on the main street, opposite the York Springs Bank when a truck tractor hits a pole.
The 4,600 volt power line dropped on the telephone company cables burning through them and sending a momentary surge of high voltage current along the lines, ringing the phone bells and knocking out fuses of subscribers and also of the town's phone exchange.

County History

The Hays-King Family

By B. F. M. MacPherson

When the Rev. Isaac N. Hays first came to Great Conewago Presbyterian Church in 1850 he was unmarried. Some two months after he was ordained and installed, however, the following notice appeared in the "Adams Sentinel" under date of Monday, December 23, 1850:—

"Married in Washington City, on Tuesday, December 10, 1850, by Rev. James Laurie, D.D., the Rev. Isaac N. Hays, of Hunters-town, this County, to Miss Rebecca H. King, daughter of Mr. Robert King, of Strabane Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania."

In 1854 the Rev. Isaac Hays accepted a call to Middle Spring Presbyterian Church, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, where he remained for twenty-one years. In 1875 he went to Allegheny City, Pennsylvania, where he became pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church in 1890. His death took place on May 23, 1895.

Rev. Isaac N. Hays and his wife, Rebecca Horner King, the daughter of Robert and Rebecca (Bell) King, were the parents of the following children:—

Lafayette Graduate
1. Robert McChesney Hays — born October 9, 1851 — graduated from Lafayette College and Jefferson Medical School — died about 1894.

2. Rebecca Jane Hays — born December 24, 1853 — died May 8, 1874.

3. Caroline Nancy Hays — born March 31, 1855 — died May 31, 1858.

4. Mary Payson Hays — born June 28, 1856 — married Professor A. J. Dill.

5. Calvin Cornwell Hays — born May 21, 1861 — Presbyterian minister — married Lucy Alexander of Bridgeport, Ohio.

6. Eleanor King Hays — born March 22, 1863 — married John McGill of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

7. Flora Belle Hays — born October 8, 1866 — married Bertrand M. Smysters of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

8. Charles H. Hays — born March 10, 1869 — married to Ella Morford.

In the "upper" graveyard at Middle Spring Presbyterian Church are the graves of two of the daughters of Rev. Isaac and Rebecca (King) Hays. The inscriptions on the stones marking their graves are as follows:—

1. "In memory of Rebecca Jane, daughter of Rev. I. N. and R. H. Hays, born December 24, 1853, died May 8, 1874."

2. "In memory of Caroline Nancy, daughter of Rev. I. N. and R. H. Hays, born March 31, 1855, died May 31, 1858."

This concludes the notes on the family.

The following additional data on the Rev. James C. Watson are included in this column on Great Conewago Presbyterian Church and its early ministers, because of the historical and genealogical value.

1. Adams Centinel, Monday, December 4, 1843:—

Practiced Medicine
"Died, November 16, 1843, at his residence in East Donegal Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, Dr. John Watson, father of the Rev. James C. Watson, of this borough, aged eighty years and ten months. He was a successful practitioner of medicine for more than fifty-five years."

2. Adams Centinel, Monday, June 28, 1847:—

"At the late commencement of Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, the Honorary Degree of 'Doctor of Divinity' was conferred upon the Rev. James C. Watson, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania."

3. Adams Centinel, Monday, October 1, 1849:—

"The Rev. Dr. James C. Watson has resigned the pastoral charges of the Presbyterian Churches in Gettysburg and Conewago — he having accepted a call at Clinton, New Jersey, and removed there. His successor has not yet been named."

4. Adams Centinel, Monday, August 12, 1850:—

"Died, August 4, 1850, at the residence of her son-in-law, Colonel James Patterson, Mountjoy, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Margaret Watson, consort of the late Dr. John Watson, deceased, and mother of the Rev. Dr. James C. Watson, late of this place, in the eighty-seventh year of her age."

Burial Plot
The following members of the Watson family are buried in old Donegal Presbyterian Burial Ground, Donegal Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

1. "In memory of John Watson, M.D. Born December 25th A.D. 1762 graduated at the Medical University of Pennsylvania July 4th, 1783. And after a laborious life spent in the successful practice of his profession Departed this life November 16th, A.D. 1843. Aged 60 years."

Note:—The father of the Rev. Dr. James C. Watson, who was one of the early ministers of Upper Marsh Creek and Great Conewago Presbyterian Churches, in this County.

2. "In memory of Mrs. Margaret Watson, Widow of Dr. John Watson, who departed this life August 14th, A.D. 1850. In the 88th year of her age."

Note:—The mother of the Rev. Dr. James C. Watson, and widow of Dr. John Watson, who was a "successful practitioner of medicine."

3. "In memory of David Watson, M.D. Born December 12th, A.D. 1790. Died May 11th, A.D. 1856."

Note:—This man was probably a son of Dr. John and Margaret Watson and a brother of the Rev. Dr. James C. Watson.

NEW MISSILE IS DISCLOSED BY AIR FORCE

By VERN HAUGLAND

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force plans to arm its supersonic fighter bombers with a powerful new air-to-surface missile, the White Lance.

Reports say the missile would be nuclear tipped.

The weapon, an improved version of the Navy Bullpup, will be manufactured by the Martin Co. Missile Division here.

No Longer Secret
The Air Force has not yet formally announced the name. However, it is no longer a secret within the Tactical Air Command.

A section of the Martin plant already has become known as the White Lance Department.

The new super Bullpup was designed to multiply the destructive capability of the North American F100 and Republic F105 fighters. It would be used in attacks on grounded aircraft, ships, bridges and on ground support and assignments requiring a high degree of accuracy.

Would Fill Gap
It would fill a gap in Air Force weapons, providing greater accuracy than is possible with conventional bombs and offering greater firepower than is available with rockets such as the Sidewinder. The Sidewinder is designed to shoot down attacking aircraft and is not particularly effective against ground targets.

The Air Force reportedly has not yet made a decision as to the type of improved guidance to be ordered.

Known to be under consideration is a television guidance system that would enable the pilot to control the missile even beyond visual range. Some of the Air Force leaders argue that such a system would be unnecessarily costly and complex.

ARMS HOUSE BROKEN
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — When S. H. Burden told the hospital attendants his arms were broken "when a house ran over me," he wasn't kidding.

Burden, a 69-year-old house mover, had a dwelling tied to a stump with a rope as it was moved along an incline. The rope broke and the house slid over Burden.

Final Fire
This was the last fire on the historic West Side site, the fire department said. Construction will start soon on a 5½-million-dollar building, the department's Fire Academy. The re-enactment was in connection with observance of Fire Prevention Week.

In the fire of 1871, which started Oct. 8, more than 300 persons died, some 90,000 were made homeless, and property damage was estimated at more than 200 million dollars.

Let's Look At The Record

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President Wisconsin State College

ERRORS IN SPACE
A Science Mistake Put Columbus Afloat: We Need Similar Error At Cape Canaveral

SPACE MEN pictures and proposed moonshots fill the news and stimulate imaginations.

Some healthy, young, Air Force major spends a week or ten days in a glass paneled pressure chamber that is so wired for sound that everything from an irregular pulse ripple to maniacal ravings becomes a matter of scientific record. Immediately the major's picture becomes newsworthy as a prospective Columbus for skipping a space ship to the moon.

Actually he will be fat and gray with years before any such ship, complete with captain, cook and crew, ever "blasts off" with any prospect of returning with lunar specimens of moon-glow flora and fauna.

COMES THAT DAY, a skipper far younger will be calling the count down for fame as the Columbus of space.

In brief, the current crop of "guinea pigs" are to be commended for their fearless, unselfish co-operation with scientific research, but on this Columbus-of-space theme we are kidding ourselves and them.

The odds against them are literally astronomical. Donald Duck has better chances at winning a future Miss America contest.

"But look at Columbus," is the usual retort. "Isn't he the fellow who showed off without knowing where he was going and when he got back did not know where he had been? We know more about the universe and space travel than he did about the world and navigation. All we've got to do is to build the space ship."

And right there we come to the very first advantage Columbus had over any of the present, would-be space explorers. Columbus had a ship — three ships, in fact.

Moreover, earlier generations in more primitive craft had sailed far and wide. They had left records.

And on this 466th anniversary of the discovery of America is an appropriate time to compare Columbus and his problems with the present.

COLUMBUS and the men of his day were not nearly so ignorant as decades of oversimplified history has led us to believe.

Anyone who could then read and write was considered educated. Practically all the "educated people" of that day not only knew the earth is round, but they also knew, or could readily learn, its approximate size.

Thus Columbus, who was not a scientist as much as he was a literate sailor with a keen curiosity, quickly found in the writings of Toscanelli that the earth at the equator had a circumference of 22,490 miles.

This established the value of each of the 360 degrees at the equator as sixty-two and a half miles. Toscanelli's error was but slightly under seven and two tenths miles, the true figure being 69.65 for a correct circumference.

Furney Sparks Warriors To Stunning 24-7 Win Over Mechanicsburg 11

Clicking in superb fashion for the first time this season, the Gettysburg High School Warriors put together a fine-running and passing attack with a stout defense to hand Mechanicsburg a stunning 24-7 drubbing on the Wildcats' field Friday night in a South Penn Conference game before about 4,000 fans, many of whom were from Gettysburg.

It was the first time in the history of the long Gettysburg-Mechanicsburg series that the Warriors won on two successive years. Last year the Jones-men turned the trick here 20-19.

The brand of ball exhibited by the Warriors was a far-cry from some earlier season performances and serves as a warning to future foes.

Winning Combine

Two of the big factors in the Warriors' first win of the season, against two setbacks and one tie, was the quick, accurate jump passing of quarterback Joel Riddlemoser and the hard driving of fullback Bob Furney. Furney toted the ball 13 times for 49 yards and a 3.8 yards per carry. He picked up five first downs, scored three of the winners' four touchdowns and recovered one of his teammates' fumbles. Furney also grabbed in two of three passes for 37 yards.

Coach Ben Jones' outfit had trouble in the first period trying to get started as they received the ball three times and were stopped cold around the midfield strip with the exception of one first down. The Warriors then received a Mechanicsburg punt on their own 38 yard line as the second frame got underway and soon there was no doubt in the minds of those attending the game who was superior.

Captain Gary Maitland swept seven yards on an end around and Riddlemoser fired a pass to Mike Small which covered 21 yards and placed the ball on the home team's 33. On three consecutive carries, Furney picked up another 10 yards to the 23. Tom Crist went off tackle for one yard, Ted Fair added another three off the same tackle and Furney and Riddlemoser hit the center of the line for five and four yards, respectively, placing the ball on the Mechanicsburg 10. On three more consecutive carries, Furney, the 176-pound Junior, bolted his way over for the first TD of the evening with 5:30 gone in the quarter. Fair's drop kick for the extra point was caught in the wind and missed as the Warriors led 6-0.

Four plays later, after Mechanicsburg was forced to punt, the Jonesmen were on their way again. With the ball on their own 26, Crist was dropped for a two-yard loss and the Warriors were penalized for offside. Riddlemoser then uncorked a 15-yard pass to Maitland and Furney pounded off seven more yards for a first down on the Warriors' 41.

Riddlemoser connects. Bill Shoemaker added six yards off tackle and Riddlemoser tossed another aerial to Crist for two yards. Riddlemoser then passed 13 yards to Small and 23 more yards to Furney plus picking up seven himself on a keeper-play. With the pigskin on the four-yard line, Gettysburg was thrown back for 10 yards on a pair of offside penalties. From 14 yards out, Riddlemoser flicked a pass into the endzone to Furney for the touchdown with 10 seconds remaining in the half. Fair's drop kick was blocked.

Gettysburg continued with their exhibition of might and power as the second half got underway. After four plays of the third stanza, Roy Goldsmith, 200-pound guard, intercepted a Rohrer pass and moved 10 yards up field to the home club's 34. Shoemaker and Furney then cracked the line for four yards, but a five-yard penalty moved the ball back to the 35.

Snarers Deflected Pass. From this point Joel Riddlemoser uncorked a pass intended for Maitland but Zimmerman batted the ball high into the air just as Tom Crist came sweeping by to snare the pigskin and cross the goal line completing a 35-yard pass play. This time Riddlemoser tried to pass to Maitland for the extra point only to have it broken up as Gettysburg led 18-0.

With three minutes remaining in the third frame, the Warriors tallied their final six-pointer of the evening. Maitland recovered a Zimmerman fumble on the Wildcats' 35. Crist moved the ball 19 yards and, with the help of a 13-yard interference penalty on a pass play, the ball was placed on the home team's one-yard line. Furney then crashed the center of the line for the score. Fair's pass to Crist for the extra point was incomplete and Gettysburg led 24-0.

Mechanicsburg tallied their only TD midway through the final quarter. The Wildcats climaxed a 31-yard drive, following a Crist punt, by sending Ray Haas through the line for a one-yard plunge and the tally. Ross Gardner

The entire Warrior outfit, including reservists who played much of the final period, turned in a fine performance. Roy Goldsmith, Bob Nelson and Bill Rentzel played fine ball on the line and were given stout support by the rest of the linesmen.

Next week the Warriors return to their home grounds to meet Middletown who tied Shippensburg 6-6 Friday.

TRACK PURSES TOTAL $37,000

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Purses totaling some $37,000 were at stake today at the Arden Downs Grand Circuit harness racing meet at the Washington County Fairgrounds.

The two-day event got under way Friday night with four races on the half-mile track and purses totaling some $40,000.

Brogue Hanover, owned by Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa., and driven by Ned Bower captured the $10,745 Hanover Shoe Farms Trophy for three-year-old colts.

O'Brien Hanover placed second then first in the two heats. Raider Frost, handled by Joe O'Brien, was runnerup after winning the first heat and ending up third in the second heat.

LaBelle, with Dick Buxton in the sulky, won both heats for a victory in the $7,011 Peter Pan Farms Trophy three-year-old filly trot.

Kathena, with Levi Harner driving, won the $9,777 two-year-old filly pace in straight heats.

FEUD BETWEEN CASEY, WEISS IS CALLED LIE

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel quitting baseball as manager of the World Champion New York Yankees after his greatest World Series triumph?

"Plain rubbish," said the 68-year-old skipper still enjoying the thrill of beating the Milwaukee Braves in the final game of the World Series Thursday after being down three games to one.

"There's too much work to be done for me to think about quitting," Casey added.

Stengel's two-year contract expires this year and talk of his quitting was revived Friday by a story in the New York Post that Stengel and General Manager George Weiss are feuding.

Denies Feud

"Unless the breach is healed, according to people close to the situation, there is a 50-50 chance that Stengel will never put on a Yankee uniform again," wrote Jimmy Cannon, the Post's sports columnist.

Retorted Weiss: "This is a barefaced lie and you can make it as strong as you like. There is absolutely no semblance of a feud between us."

"Certainly we haven't got around to discussing a new contract, but that in itself is nothing new. We seldom in the past have ever been in a hurry to draw a new one when the old one expires. Then we sit down to talk terms and that's that. I expect him to be with us again. He has been a great manager."

The club has called a press conference for Tuesday. Stengel said he would be present to discuss plans for the 1959 season.

REPORT BRAVES HAVE THREE ON TRADING BLOCK

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rumors that sprouted from the debris of the Milwaukee Braves World Series defeat have three players perched on the trading block and Manager Fred Haney ready to resign.

The marked men are shortstop Johnny Logan and right-handed pitchers Bob Buhl and Gene Conley, and possibly Bob Trowbridge.

The report that Haney would retire has been growing since rumors placed former Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbets in line for an executive post with the Braves. Tebbets has been mentioned as the possible choice as an aide for club President Joseph C. Cairnes who recently was named an official of a Florida development company headed by Braves' owner Lou Perini.

Buhl, Haney At Odds
Haney, 60, denied he will retire saying, "As long as they keep paying me, I'll be around." In the complete seasons he has managed the Braves he guided them to two straight National League titles and one world championship.

Haney is expected to discuss terms with General Manager John Quinn before leaving for his West Coast home early next week. Logan is convinced that Haney doesn't care for him, the report said. The infielder had a bad season and poor series.

Buhl missed a good portion of the season because of arm trouble. Late in the year he and Haney hardly spoke. The fast ball specialist was never considered for a series appearance. He was 5-2 this year.

Conley was used mostly in relief winding up with an 0-6 record.

Trowbridge pitched 55 innings, and compiled a 1-3 record.

Football Trainer Gets Bowl Tickets

ROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Jack McKinnon, Brown University football trainer for 550 years, is going to the Rose Bowl game after all.

The 73-year-old McKinnon was awarded an all expenses trip to Pasadena for the coming Rose Bowl classic as part of a testimonial to him Friday night.

At Brown since 1909, the man who will finish his 50th year next spring was trainer when Brown went to the Rose Bowl in 1918 and lost to Washington State 14-0. McKinnon was bitterly disappointed when told finances would not permit his making the trip.

Littlestown Overpowers Central 27-13 For Fourth Straight Win; Top League

Littlestown High School took over sole possession of first place in the Laurel Football Conference by easily defeating Central of North York 27-13 Friday evening on the Thunderbolts' field. It was the fourth straight win for Littlestown and was the third successive setback for Central.

The Thunderbolts, led by the hard-running of Ron Crouse and Wayne Garrett, piled up a 27-0 lead before the reserves took over for most of the final period when the invaders tallied twice.

A quick kick by Crouse in the first three minutes of play put Central in a hole, the ball going to the Panthers' 10-yard line. Central, unable to gain, kicked out into a stiff wind and Jack Lehr's boot went out on Central's 23. Garrett circled end from the 11 and added four on his next try before Crouse went around right end from the eight to score. Crouse also booted the point.

Another Good Point

On the first play of the second period Crouse again put the Panthers in a hole with a 45-yard punt to the 8. A little later Haary Cool, Bolt tackle, pounced on a Panther fumble on the 17 to pave the way for another tally. Garrett eventually plunged over from the 1 and again Crouse converted. Gambling deep in its own territory in the third period on a pass, Central found its aerial intercepted by Crouse who ran untouched for 18 yards and the TD. Crouse missed on his kick for the point.

Late in the third period Garrett recovered a Panther fumble on the Central 42. Jesse Sheely fired a pass to Crouse at the 30 and the latter got to the 14 before being hauled down. On the first play of the final period Garrett circled right end from the 10 and Crouse booted his third extra point to make it 27-0.

ONE GOLFER CONQUERS OLD ST. ANDREWS

By GAVIN HUGHES

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—You would think that no amateur golfer in his right mind would try to conquer the rugged Old Course at St. Andrews in a championship tournament when the wind is howling and the barometer is low.

But that's exactly what is going on this week in the first world amateur team championship for the Eisenhower Cup.

Only one of the 114 competitors had broken the course's 72 par as the tournament went into its final round today.

He was Australia's Peter Too-good, who went around the 6,936-yard seaside links in 71 Friday.

Three Score 72

Only three competitors have scored a 72—Scotland's Reid Jack, who did it amid abandoned cheers from his teammates Wednesday; Ed McDougall, who did it Friday to put New Zealand into a 687-690 lead over the United States and Sweden's Gunnar Carlinder, who calmed down and did it Friday after scoring 82-79 on his first two rounds.

Only three men have scored 73 so far in the tournament. Only five have turned in a 74 and six a 75. These are the gloomy statistics and the big question is: Why?

Reid Jack, 1957 British amateur winner, led the individual field with an aggregate 72-77-74—223.

Bob Charles, New Zealand, was one behind with 74-74-76—224. Coe was third with 74-77-76—227.

BIG GAMES ON SCHEDULE FOR FOOTBALL FANS

By ED CORRIGAN

AP Sports Writer

The East a forgotten section as a football power?

It all depends on how you look at it. The days of a dozen or more schools in the area fielding top teams probably are gone.

But qualitatively, the East still can put out some mighty impressive clubs and after today's action, they could be even more impressive.

All three teams that are in the running for the mythical Eastern championship—and shooting for the top of the national heap to boot—were involved in important contests.

Army Vs. Irish

Topping them all, of course, was the Army-Notre Dame encounter at South Bend, Ind. The other big ones were Pitt at Michigan State and Navy at Michigan.

This will be the last of the Army-Notre Dame series (just two games) for the present. Always a top attraction, the series was resumed last year after an interruption of 10 years.

The word is that Notre Dame wanted to continue the series, but that Army decided to drop it. West Point officials have steadfastly declined to give the reasons for the termination.

Army is rated No. 3 in this week's Associated Press poll while Notre Dame is No. 4.

Pitt had a tough assignment in Michigan State. The Spartans would be favored anyhow, but this time they are smarting from a 12-12 draw with arch-rival Michigan last week.

Favor Michigan

Navy was untested going into its game against Michigan. Michigan, on the basis of its performance against Michigan State, was the choice.

Up at the top of the heap, Auburn, which leapfrogged into first place last week, had a date with Kentucky, a Southeastern Conference rival. The Tigers figured to smother Kaintuck's explosive offense with their patented blanket.

Oklahoma, No. 2, and not quite as invincible as many thought in the beginning of the season, appeared ready to chop undefeated Texas up.

Louisiana State, Florida and Denver opened the weekend activity with victories Friday night. LSU crushed Miami (Fla.) 41-0, Florida took UCLA 21-14 and Denver whipped Montana 29-0.

Louisiana State, a Southeastern Conference powerhouse, handed Miami its worst defeat in 14 years in their game at Miami. Don Purvis started LSU on the way to its fourth straight victory with a 51-yard touchdown run in the first period.

A long run also helped Florida to its triumph over UCLA at Los Angeles. Soph halfback Don Deal got loose for a 67-yard TD gallop in the second period.

Quarterback Bob Miller sparked Denver to its Skyline Conference triumph over Montana. He scored twice.

In another Friday game Wofford beat the Citadel 18-6.

The NCAA's television game of the day sent Ohio State, the favorite for the Big 10 title, against Illinois. The Buckeyes were favored. Ohio State is ranked No. 3 in the nation.

Wisconsin, another pretender to the Big 10 throne—rated No. 7—played Purdue. Both clubs had 20 records and both were undefeated.

Mississippi, No. 7, had a Southeastern Conference game with Tulane, and Clemson, No. 8 and possibly the class of the Atlantic Coast Conference, tangled with Vanderbilt.

Speedy Dallastown Routs Canners 39-20 As Fumbles Halt Losers Four Times

LAUREL STANDING

Striking for two touchdowns in the first 3:40 minutes of play, Dallastown raced to a 39-20 victory over the Biglerville High Canners Friday evening at Biglerville in a game marked by the absence of tight defensive play. Approximately 1,500 fans saw winless Biglerville submit to its third loss as Dallastown won its third straight.

On the opening kickoff Barry Keckler returned to the Dallastown 33. Ronnie Smeltzer raced for 34 yards on the next play and on the following try Jerry Weitzcamp streaked 33 yards for the score. Keckler's placement was wide.

Biglerville took the ensuing kickoff and a few seconds later fumbled, Wayne Bupp recovering for the Wildcats on the Canner 30. Dallastown moved to the 19 on five tries before Keckler scampered over from that point. Keckler added the point on a placement.

The Canners came back fighting and marched 83 yards for their first TD. John Harmon picked up 13 yards on one try and Howard Vines ran an additional 35. The score came when Kermit Jacoby rated 18. A plunge for the point failed.

A 68-yard march by Dallastown was climaxed by a 6-yard run by Charlie Tyson on the second play of the second quarter to make the score 19-6 and Keckler booted the point.

Caught From Rear

The Canners, who lost the ball four times on fumbles, lost a costly fumble a short time later in the second period. Vines broke away on a pretty 40-yard dash and was in the clear when tackled hard from the rear by Weitzcamp. He fumbled, Dallastown recovering on the 3 from which it worked itself out of trouble.

Jack Emanuel's boys looked as though they might pull the game out of the fire when they took the second half kickoff and reeled off fire straight first downs on the running of Jacoby, Harmon and Vines with Vines finally racing across from the 14. He added the point on a plunge as the score read 20-13.

However, Dallastown immediately retaliated. Keckler passed twice to Rupprecht for a total of 16 yards and the 'Cats eventually had a fourth down with three to go for a TD. Keckler, trapped, raced all over the field and finally tossed a pass which bounced off the hands of Carter Myers into the arms of Mike Rupprecht for the score.

Two quick tallies in the fourth period wrapped up the verdict. Dallastown moved 65 yards for its first score, Weitzcamp galloping 38 for the TD.

Intercept Pass

A short time later Gary Strickler intercepted a Canner pass on the 48 and got back to the Biglerville 33. A 15-yard penalty set Biglerville back to its 6 a little later and then Ivan Stump smacked over from the 3. Keckler made it 39-13 with a placement.

In the fading moment of the game Biglerville marched 63 yards for its final tally, the score coming on a pass, Vance Johnston to Jacoby for 16 yards. Harmon plunged for the point.

Next Friday night Juniata Joint will play at Biglerville.

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — A versatile product, paint is used in many ways around a house by both amateur and professional. But a New York interior designer used it in unusual and perhaps new ways in a major redecorating project.

The role of paint in the project was emphasized perhaps because the job was commissioned by America's "Mr. Paint," Gen. Joseph F. Battley, president of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, an organization of 1,500 paint or paint materials firms.

The work was done at the home of Gen. and Mrs. Battley in the Georgetown section of the nation's capital by Mrs. Ellen Lehman McCluskey, a nationally-known interior designer of New York.

In the Battley home, Mrs. McCluskey used paint to simulate a rug in a sitting room.

Simulate Bedroom Molding
She also used it to simulate bedroom molding, to represent wood paneling and to give a textured effect to walls and floors.

Decorative stripes were painted on library walls, enameled metal flowers were used for bedroom decorations, and furniture was decorated with paint to correlate the furniture with the color or decor of individual rooms.

In Mrs. Battley's bedroom, paint was used on walls, floors and furniture as well as for decorative floral touches.

In this room, a base coat of white enamel was used on the floor. After it dried, it was mottled with blue and green by flicking it on with a paint brush.

Has English Bedroom
Gen. Battley, who retired in 1947 after holding important commands in both world wars, has a comfortable, masculine 18th Century English bedroom with antique furnishings.

Here the walls were painted to simulate wood paneling as a means of emphasizing the patterned carpeting and the hand-blocked red-toned linen drapes.

A Victorian mahogany four-poster bed in Mrs. Battley's bedroom was painted white with blue striping and topped with a canopy of white percale, appliqued with blue lace dressmaker flowers, repeating the pattern and color of the bedspread.

In a dressing-sitting room next to Mrs. Battley's bedroom, Mrs. McCluskey used blue walls with green accents. The floor was painted white and on top of this a mural design of a formal 18th Century French garden was stenciled in green paint.

Enjoying Revival
The designer says this unusual type of floor treatment currently is enjoying a revival in this country. On the floor of the guest room, paint was used as a blue border around a deep green cotton rug.

To simulate architectural detail, the moldings in the guest room were painted purple against white walls. Four-poster twin beds in the room were painted blue.

In the living room, the walls were painted a soft mauve-pink and stippled with paint to provide a textured or dimensional effect. The floor was stained black.

In the library, the walls were striped. The first coat was painted flat white and then, with masking tape in place, mustard-gold stripes were applied vertically. Here again the wooden floor was stained black.

Large basement rooms are popular entertaining areas in Washington homes, and it was decided to finish the plywood walls of the lowest floor in the Battley home with yellow, textured paint.

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Killing frosts are striking here and there around the country more frequently now as winter weather comes on, but before-hand gardeners can preserve their gardens for a little longer if they want to take the pain and the trouble.

Many of the bright annuals — particularly the hardier, sturdy types like zinnias — may be potted up and brought into the house where, after a suitable convalescence in a dark spot — they will continue to bloom in a sunny window.

When frost threatens — or your favorite source of weather information sends out the alarm — many of the more hardy annuals and fall perennials can live to bloom through Indian summer if protected during the emergency with covers of bushel baskets or even a tent made of stakes and thicknesses of newspaper held in place on the ground by stones.

Cold Frame Storage
Too many of us use our cold frames only to start seeds or harden off house-started seedlings in the spring. An important use for them during the cold months is as a storage place for plants of dubious hardness. One year I wintered over a few clumps of chrysanthemums about whose resistance I was a little nervous.

Last winter I had my cold frame partly occupied by verbenas cuttings I had rooted, and some snapdragons which had been left in a seedbed. As a result, I had a home-grown crop of flowering verbenas as early as my neighbors who had bought nursery plants, and my snapdragons bloomed far ahead of any others around here.

In southern area, of course, snapdragons can be treated as perennials. And so can they be here, in a handy cold frame.

Fall is a good time — provided of course other garden chores don't interfere — to organize some of those jobs we always mean to get around to but never seem to. It is, for one thing, an excellent period in which to buy and set up or to make a cold frame.

Easy To Make

Very good ones can be purchased. Or by using one or more discarded storm doors or storm windows, it isn't too difficult to make one from scratch. Frames can be made of any size, of course, but it is always well to remember to make the dimensions convenient for the gardener who must work with its innards.

The frame should be low in front, high in back: about 10 inches in the front and 16 inches in the rear. The glass or transparent top may be hinged or — if light enough — removable. It should face south, have some protection — a house, wall or shrub screen — from the elements. The soil within must drain well, be rich and sifted — like a seed-bed. In bitter weather, the plants may be further protected by a mat or blanket over the glass cover.

Gain Six Weeks

With a cold frame it is possible to sow spring seed anywhere from six weeks to a month before the average date of the last killing frost in your neighborhood.

Another good fall project is the making of pools, repairing of stone walls, setting in a terrace or fixing flagging and stone steps. Make certain that any masonry work starts deep in the soil so that it will not be displaced and shattered by the alternate thawing and melting of frozen ground.

Keep mowing the lawn and trimming the edges of walks and garden beds as long as the grass keeps growing. And, just because the end of the season is near, maintain the battle against the weeds. At this period, in particular, every weed pulled is a next season's backslider; it cannot drop seed to sprout next spring.

SELF SERVICE

SPENCER, Iowa (AP) — When the mayor of Spencer was brought before the bar on a charge of speeding, he got the same treatment as any other citizen.

The mayor, John Flint, fined himself $6.00 and costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Leatherman, Gettysburg R. 1, are shown gathering part of the bumper crop of pumpkins which they are harvesting from about two acres of corn field. The wagon load in the picture is about half of the crop. Leatherman estimated, and contains about 400 pumpkins of a variety of sizes and shapes. He said that sons had sown about a pocket full of seeds, dropping them into the fertilizer hopper as the corn was being planted. The Leathermans expected some pumpkins, they said, but are puzzled about what to do with their unexpected bonanza. (Times photo)

Here's the Answer

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

Question: One of our window shades is causing trouble. When it is raised a little, you have to be very careful to hold it in place a minute. If you don't, it shoots upward at great speed and bangs across the top of the window frame. Can this be fixed? The shade itself is in good condition.

Answer: Excessive tension in the spring inside the shade roller is causing the difficulty. Raise the shade carefully to the top of the window, then take the roller off the brackets. Now unroll the shade about halfway by hand. Replace the roller on the brackets. This procedure unwinds the spring partly. Test the shade and see whether it works properly. You will find less tension than previously. If the shade still snaps up too rapidly, repeat the process. Each time you take down the roller and unwind part of the shade by hand, you are unwinding the spring a little.

Question: Some months ago I painted the wood trim on our house. The trim has now developed tiny splits in the surface. They do not seem to go very deep. Can you tell me what caused this and how to correct it?

Answer: This condition, known as checking, usually occurs when the final coat of paint was put on before the undercoat was thoroughly hard. You probably did not wait long enough for the undercoat to dry. Another possibility is that you used an inferior grade thinner

Cop Stretches To Make Right Height

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — William B. McClaran did quite a stretch before becoming a Grand Rapids policeman.

His application was rejected on the grounds he was a quarter-inch under the minimum height. Undaunted, the 21-year-old McClaran went to a health clinic to have the vertebrae in his back stretched. He also stretched himself on a homemade "rack" and hung from an overhead beam by his hands with a thermos jug filled with nails tied to his waist. He made the height.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Al Kalm-bach took his car to the garage and complained of a strange noise.

The mechanic asked what the racket sounded like, and Kalm-bach said, "Can't help you much, it's kind of hard to describe. It's sorta like stones in the hubcap." When Kalm-bach returned he asked, "What was it?" "Stones in the hubcap," the mechanic said.

in the undercoat mixture. Unless the condition is very bad, you can cover the checking with another coat of paint, possibly two coats. Before you put on the paint, sand the trim thoroughly and then remove the dust.

Corn Picker Accidents Are Not Reduced Despite Modern, Safer Machines

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Modern corn pickers are more heavily shielded, have larger capacities, and fewer places to grease and oil. But these fundamentally safer machines are not reducing the number of corn picker accidents, and the annual toll continues to increase.

Unclogging a picker is the biggest single cause for picker mishaps. Adjustment of the picker to suit field conditions is essential for safe, efficient operation. The machine must be in top running condition for full efficiency.

Before going into the field with a corn picker, follow these precautions:

1. Replace worn or broken parts. These include snapping rolls, husking rolls, chains, drive belts, sprockets and gears.
2. Have all shields in place.
3. Be sure crop is in condition to pick, and not too green for safe harvest.
4. Adjust picker for condition of crop and weather.
5. Have your working clothes fit snugly and properly.
6. Always stop the power take-off before leaving the tractor seat, even though it may mean taking more time to clean the picker.

"This year let's keep our hands out of running pickers so we won't have our hands off — permanently."

Control Chickweed

Chickweed (Stellaria media), a winter annual, is the major weed in alfalfa fields throughout southeastern Pennsylvania. Chickweed grows from seed which germinates and starts growth in the early fall, sometimes as late as November, and makes its most vigorous growth during cool weather. In mild winters it blossoms and produces seed throughout the winter.

Chickweed reduces alfalfa stands and yields. In new seedlings stands may be crowded out completely. The loss is less in alfalfa stands on old established fields.

Materials most effective for chickweed control include dinitros. There are three formulations of dinitros for weed control, including the ammonium and amine salts and the parent acid.

Chloro IPC is another chemical used for chickweed control in alfalfa providing grasses are not present, as it will be injurious to grasses.

The best time to spray is November and December, when the chickweed is small and less than 2½ inches tall. Spray dinitro when the temperature is 65 degrees or above. Spray Chloro IPC when temperature is less than 55 degrees.

The precautions are listed for getting best results:

1. Do not use Chloro IPC on mixed grass-legume seedings, as it will kill the grasses like timothy, bromegrass, and orchardgrass.
2. Toxic effects may result from swallowing dinitros, contact on the skin, or breathing of spray drift.
3. Do not use dinitros when the growth of chickweed is over five inches tall, as it will burn only the tops and will not kill the roots.

Fire Prevention Week

This is National Fire Prevention Week! President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week ending October 11 as Fire Prevention Week, and urges everyone, yourself included, to do everything possible to prevent the ravages of accidental fires. Reports indicate that a full eighty-five per cent of the millions of dollars going up in smoke could be prevented.

All you have to do is use a little foresight and care to avoid all needless fire hazards about the place.

Also, be ever prepared to fight fire, as soon as it's discovered, with safe and effective equipment. Have extinguishers ready to use whenever they're needed . . . in and near your home and other buildings, on trucks and tractors.

Provide for your overall community fire protection with trained men in a fire-fighting organization equipped to put out large fires . . . and you'll be rewarded with peace of mind.

We have telephones, tank trucks, farm ponds, rural electric service, and enough of our own "git up and go" to protect our families and property. We can cut our farm fire losses and save millions. Let's do it.

REDS MAINTAIN CHURCHES BUT JUST FOR SHOW

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

"I'd like to challenge anyone who says there's a religious revival in Russia," says Tommy Hicks, a Texas-born evangelist who recently made a 32-day preaching tour of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. Mr. Hicks, who has spent the greater part of the past five years evangelizing on foreign shores, draws a bleak picture of religion outside the large Russian cities of Leningrad and Moscow.

"Back in 1955," he says, "the newspaper Pravda announced that Christianity would be dead in Russia within 10 years. From my latest observations, I'd say they don't need that long."

Luring Children

How are the Soviets doing it? "They're taking the children out of the church," says the Rev. Mr. Hicks. "They're luring them away by giving them an esteemed place in the nation."

"They have children's clubs and the members get to do things and go places that nonmembers do not get to do. If a boy or girl is a Christian he or she is ruled out of membership."

The Rev. Mr. Hicks preached at 23 services during his tour. Arrangements were made through local pastors. The evangelist says he does not know precisely how the pastors obtained permission.

"I preached as simply as I could," he says, "mostly from John 3:16 — 'For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.'"

Show For Tourists

He preached through interpreters. "The only time I was sure I was getting a good interpretation was when I had a Christian interpreter. Some were atheists and some just had no comprehension of Christian phrases."

"Churches are tolerated in Moscow and Leningrad," he says, "but it seems to be only a show for tourists. In the smaller cities, church attendance is small and quiet. They don't want to attract attention."

Witnesses said Barbara Riehl, daughter of Mrs. Joan Riehl, Morgantown, dashed from behind a tractor into the path of the automobile driven by Mrs. Violet H. Miller of Elversen R. 2. The girl died instantly.

State police said no charges would be filed against Mrs. Miller.

CLEAR COUPLE CHARGED WITH TRADING SON

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A young Pennsylvania couple, cleared of child desertion charges in the swap of their infant son for a pickup truck, made plans today to regain custody of the infant.

Richard Readdy, 26-year-old stable worker acquitted Thursday by a district court jury, and his wife, Helene Margaret, 20, of Shamokin, Pa., said their next step is to regain custody of 5-month-old Paul Anthony. He has been cared for at a juvenile court shelter since the arrest of his parents Aug. 9.

A jury deliberated only 35 minutes before clearing Readdy. Both Readdy and his wife testified in the two-day trial, each admitting the trade of the baby for the truck owned by a Missouri man. But they maintained the trade was only temporary.

Seeks College Degree

Readdy said he wanted to continue working at a Tulsa service station where he was employed while awaiting trial and also hopes to study architectural engineering at the University of Tulsa.

A child desertion charge against Mrs. Readdy was dropped. She was called as a witness against her husband under a state law permitting it in child desertion cases.

The Readdys were accused of bartering their son for a pickup truck owned by Jesse L. Burger, 42, of El Dorado Springs, Mo.

Burger had met the couple near Joplin, Mo., while they were hitchhiking to California to seek work. A charge of aiding and abetting a child desertion against Burger was dropped.

"Abandon Ship" Written By AP Newsmen Dick Newcomb In Basement Hideaway

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the most effective ways for a newspaperman to lose grace among other newspapermen is to write a book.

The reason is simple. The rest of us talk all the time about writing a book. But being men of great talent, vivid imagination, and easy rationalization, we never do. Thus, Dick Newcomb of The Associated Press has dismayed his old friends. He not only talked about writing a book; he actually wrote one. To make matters worse, he wrote a good book, and it was published. It is now a best-seller. How unfriendly can you get?

Story Of Sinking

His book is "Abandon Ship," a taut chronicle of the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis late in World War II.

What makes Dick's defection even more painful is that all along he had the excuses the rest of us had for not writing a book. Such as: "Too tired at the end of a working day." And: "My family demands too much of my time." And, best of all: "I got no place to write."

Dick had no place to write, but he cleared and laid claim to the starboard side of the basement of his home in Haworth, N.J. His wife Alice was told that henceforth she would be confined to the port side, the side with the oil burners, the washing machine, and surplus family junk.

Ivory Tower Falls

"It worked out fine," Dick says, "except in the winter when she violated our territorial agreement. She hung wet clothes to dry over my desk."

His desk was a sheet of plywood stretched over two sawhorses. His filing cabinets were grocery cartons and the cinder-block basement wall where he soon spread out with huge charts of the Pacific and blueprints of the Indianapolis. The book took 2 1/2 years for research and writing.

"Apparently," he says, "I was fated to finish it. Every spring I thought I'd have a grand excuse not to finish it. Every other spring basement used to leak. But in the time I worked on the book it stayed dry until two weeks after I finished the final draft."

Uses Midnight Oil

How does a man who spends eight hours a day working, two hours a day commuting, and supposedly the rest of his time appeasing a wife, two high school daughters and a house in need of repair—how does such a man write a book?

"It's easy," Dick insists. "You work nights. First you have dinner. Then you do your daughter's geometry. Then you get your wife well situated with the evening paper, a TV program and a tall drink. Then you disappear into the basement until, hours later, a voice yells down from the master bedroom 'Hey, Zola, it's midnight!'"

Now that the book is written and selling, Dick has other problems to cope with. Most people have inflated ideas of best sellers.

No Gold Mine

The author of a best seller has a hard time convincing others that the east wing of Ft. Knox is not involved.

"The children," Dick says, "are convinced they're going to get their own cars, and my wife is convinced we're getting a new house, and I'm still worried about making payments on the old car and the old house."

"Relatives think I'm hoarding my fortune. Friends think I'm greedy for not retiring and giving my job to someone who needs the money. And every time I buy a new hedge clipper or rake, a neighbor says: 'You're smart. Dicky boy. Live it up while you can!'"

RIBEMONT, France (AP) — Wayne Powers was back from a U.S. Army stockade today with the French woman who hid him during 14 years as a deserter and gave him four children.

The couple is expected to be married soon, although Powers made no announcement after his release Thursday. He said earlier he planned to wed Yvette Belesse.

Powers, 37, of Chillicothe, Mo., was arrested last March in the tiny village of Mont d'Origny when French police finally came across him. He was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years in prison but this was reduced to six months.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Five Koreans entered an off-limits American artillery area near Seoul and were killed by an explosion, the U.S. Army announced Friday. The Army said one of them apparently triggered a live artillery shell.

WEST STICKING TO ENVOY IDEA FOR CONFAB

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain are sticking to their idea that special ambassadors — not their foreign ministers — should seek to negotiate an agreement banning nuclear weapons tests.

The two governments have drafted a note to Moscow turning down a Soviet proposal that foreign ministers of the three powers meet at Geneva Oct. 31 for that purpose.

Diplomatic informants indicated, however, that the Western powers would leave the way open for a possible meeting of foreign ministers to ratify such an agreement if and when it has been worked out by East-West negotiators at a lower level.

"Yes But"

Some diplomats said that in drafting the note the Washington and London governments sought to give a "yes but" reply to the Soviet Union's unexpected call for a conference of foreign ministers.

Their purpose, it was said, was to avoid being placed in a completely negative position — a position which the Soviet government might use as an excuse for scuttling the projected Geneva meeting entirely.

The three powers had agreed earlier that they would meet at Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate on the political problems of a test suspension agreement.

Several Soviet maneuvers in recent weeks have led high officials here and in London to fear that the Soviet government may be pulling back from a workable test suspension plan.

Surprise Proposal

One was the Soviet resumption of testing after she had announced last March 31 she was suspending nuclear weapons tests, and after the United States and Britain had said they were ready to suspend tests by Oct. 31.

Another was her surprise proposal that the Oct. 31 Geneva meeting, to which she previously had agreed, be raised to the foreign ministers' level.

The latest came in New York this week in a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. He said the Soviets wanted the United Nations to vote for an immediate suspension of testing by all countries. But he also said that the Soviet Union needed to continue tests until it had equaled the number of test explosions recorded by the United States and Britain since March 31. Such a test program would extend beyond the scheduled opening of the Geneva meeting.

Woman, Dog Die In Phila. Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Katherine Young, daughter of John H. Mc Clatchy, a pioneer builder of suburban developments, burned to death in her home in neighboring Ardmore Friday. She was 57 and lived alone.

Mrs. Young's body was found in the basement ruins, indicating she was on the first floor of the $18,000 house when the fire started. Authorities said she may have fallen asleep on a living room sofa, a lighted cigarette in her hand. The body of her dog was on the second floor. The house was destroyed.

Mrs. Young is survived by her parents, two daughters and 10 brothers and sisters.

CLEVER STRAY NOW SETTLED IN GOOD HOME

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Meet Maverick, a doughty Doberman pinscher whose defiance of authority, contempt for conformity and rejection of security have made him a hero in the world of man.

Maverick raised himself from a pup and for four years stayed several jumps ahead of the dogcatchers. They couldn't outsmart him so they finally overpowered him last week after slowing him up with a tranquilizing charge fired from a gun.

The city's dogcatchers, who hung the name Maverick on him, told of the four years they spent trying to catch the big, black stray.

Evaded Pursuit

They chased him by car and on foot but never came close.

They baited traps with meat in which capsules of tranquilizing drugs were concealed. Maverick ate the meat and spat out the drugs.

They finally realized the kind of adversary they were up against when they put a female boxer in a cage with a one-way door. Maverick ripped off the back of the cage and took the lady dog into the hills with him.

At the same time he was outwitting the dogcatchers, Maverick was rebuffing all efforts by friendly residents to domesticate him. He accepted their food, raided their garbage pails, but took to his heels when they spoke of settling down.

Escapes Sentence

The captured Maverick was under death sentence at the city pound unless someone adopted him. Then newspaper readers learned of his exploits and flooded the city with 1,000 requests for the animal.

So they auctioned him off Thursday. Mrs. Harry Crown of nearby Van Nuys plunked down $130 for the dog.

"I feel that a dog who supported himself for four years deserves a good home," said Mrs. Crown as she led Maverick to her sleek red convertible.

Then Maverick rode in triumph to Mrs. Crown's 2 1/2-acre estate.

KIDNAPED BABY ABANDONED IN NEARBY YARD

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A kidnaper broke into a first floor apartment early Friday and snatched a 16-month-old girl from her crib.

A little more than two hours later the baby, Linda Stiver, was found unclothed and face down in a weedy backyard of a vacant house only three numbers away.

The child had cuts and scratches on her head and around her mouth and she was badly frightened, but otherwise unharmed. She was treated at a hospital and taken home.

Motive Mystery

The police and the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stiver, said they were mystified as to no ransom demand had been made and nothing was taken from the house.

The kidnapping was done so quickly that no one was roused. Besides the parents, four other children, their grandfather and a dog were in the house.

Three other members of the family were sleeping in the same room.

The kidnaper scattered Linda's night clothes along the short route of his flight.

Mrs. Stiver told detectives she found out about the abduction when she got up to treat a toothache.

Stiver, 39, is a painter and a decorator.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq's special military court has completed the trial of Fadhil Jamali on charges of crimes against the state and people during the monarchy. He is in prison awaiting the verdict.

Advices from Baghdad today are that the ex-premier, recent foreign minister and former chief of the Iraqi delegation to the U. N., may not learn his fate for weeks.

The five-man court, set up after the revolutionary government after the overthrow and killing of King Faisal in July, reportedly intends to complete the trials of all accused leaders of the king's regime before announcing the verdicts.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII named the Holy See as his sole beneficiary and asked in his last will and testament that no monuments to him be erected. The will, dated May 15, 1956, was published Friday in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano.

The will did not specify what properties or estate the pontiff left. He came from the noble Pacelli family, some of whose members are wealthy. There was no authoritative estimate of the Pope's personal wealth.

CHINESE DOWN 5 RED PLANES IN AIR SCRAP

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Jet fighters of the Chinese Nationalists and Communists battled over the Formosa Strait Friday. The Nationalists said five Red planes were downed at a cost of one of theirs.

The Nationalist air force said machine-gun fire from its F86 Sabre Jets shot down four MIG-17s. A Sabre Jet collided with a fifth MIG, sending both crashing into the ocean and killing the Nationalist pilot, a spokesman said.

Peiping radio claimed Communist planes shot down two Nationalist Sabre Jets and damaged a third. It said one Nationalist pilot "has been captured alive." Red losses were not mentioned.

Claim 34 Planes
The Nationalists now claim they have shot down 34 MIGs and damaged or possibly destroyed 11 more since the Communists began bombarding the Quemoy Islands Aug. 23. In that period the Nationalists say they have lost only the plane in today's collision.

The Defense Ministry said six Sabre Jets were patrolling south-east of Matsu, a Nationalist offshore island 150 miles north of Quemoy, when 20 MIGs jumped them. The Sabre Jets were in the area because MIGs strafed tiny Tungyin Island in the Matsu group Thursday, a spokesman said.

Large Aerial Battle
It was the largest aerial battle since 32 Sabre Jets clashed Sept. 24 with more than 100 MIGs. The Nationalists claimed 14 MIGs shot down in that engagement.

News of the battle climaxed the observance on Formosa of the 47th anniversary of the revolution which overthrew the Manchu Dynasty and led to establishment of the Chinese Republic. Falling on the 10th day of the month, it is known as the "Double 10th" holiday.

President Chiang Kai-shek said in his annual address that the Nationalists had won the first round of the battle of Quemoy. He predicted they would win the "second round" and eventually would recover the mainland from the Chinese Communists.

moys continued into its fifth day, and the Nationalists moved more supplies into the offshore islands. Both Nationalist and Communist gunners stood ready on either side of the narrow stretch of coastal water separating them but neither fired.

There was still no clear indication whether the Communists intended to renew shelling of the Quemoy ends at their self-imposed cease-fire when at midnight Sunday.

BIG AP STAFF ON ROME BEAT

The Associated Press file of Vatican City news is coming from a comprehensive and experienced staff to give Times readers full coverage on the death of the Pope.

Frank Brutto has been assigned to Rome since 1940 and has covered the news of the Vatican at that time aside from a four-year wartime period when there were no American correspondents in Rome.

Other Americans on the Rome staff who help cover Vatican news as part of their assignment include Allan Jacks, Rome chief of bureau; James M. Long, Richard Ehrman, Eugene Levin and Stan Carter.

Assisting them is an Italian news staff which has frequently demonstrated its talents.

Ryan Enroute To Rome
William L. Ryan, who helped cover the important consistories of 1946 and 1953, is arriving in Rome today to participate in coverage of the mourning for Pope Pius and the naming of a new pope. Also assigned are Reinhold Enns, recently in the Middle East; Hanns Neubourg, an Italian-speaking staffer from Frankfurt; and Jose Torres of the Madrid bureau.

AP's photo staff, sending a variety of radiophotos by Wirephoto today, is directed by photo editor Mortimer Belshaw, on the job in Rome since 1946. Photographer Jim Pringle has returned to his assignment. Supplementing the normal Rome newsphoto staff are Leslie Priest, Douglas Curtis and Leslie Jones of AP's London bureau.

and Alfred L. Leary, all from Emmitsburg, were among 400 persons who attended a kick-off dinner for the United Appeal of Frederick County held in the cafeteria of the West Junior High School, Frederick, Wednesday evening. The United Appeal began at this event and is the fund drive that incorporates several Community Chest agencies and the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Roger Zurgable and son, Mark, Mrs. Charles E. Shorb and Mrs. Walter Kugler visited with Mrs. Lucy Harbaugh in Hagerstown on Tuesday.

Dulles Going To Pope's Rites

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will head the U.S. delegation to the funeral of Pope Pius XII in Rome.

President Eisenhower announced this Friday in Gettysburg, Pa., where he took care of some official business during his weekend away from the White House.

At the same time, Eisenhower accepted an invitation from the apostolic delegation to attend a Pontifical Requiem Mass for the late pontiff next Tuesday at St. Matthew's Cathedral here.

Named with Dulles to represent the United States at the Rome rites were Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy, and Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission.

LIKE PLEASED BUSINESS GAIN DURING MONTH

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
THURMONT, Md. — President Eisenhower is heading for the political firing line next week contending the country is rebounding from the recession and can look forward to continued recovery.

The President, spending a weekend at his Catocin Mountain Lodge near here, Friday hailed a new government report on the job situation.

The Commerce and Labor departments said unemployment decreased by 588,000 last month—a more-than-usual drop for September. They also reported more jobs were opening up in durable goods plants that were hard hit by the recession.

Cites Recovery
In a statement with political overtones, Eisenhower said the figures are evidence of an "accelerating rate of recovery." Without spelling them out, he said "there are also good reasons for expecting a continuing recovery in our economy during the months ahead."

The resident undoubtedly spoke with an awareness that the Democrats are trying to capitalize on issues that touch the private purse during the congressional election campaign. He said it is "noteworthy that the improvement in employment conditions... has been accomplished while the cost of living has been virtually stable."

Vice President Nixon also enthusiastically over the latest job report. He said an increase in manufacturing employment shows "we are on the way to the record employment we all want for America's wage earners."

Speaking at a Republican rally in Gettysburg, Nixon said "We have pulled out of the recession, are having a good year in 1958 and are on the way to the best year in our history in 1959."

Sunday Eisenhower is flying to New York to speak at Columbus Day and church ceremonies—and to confer with New York Republican candidates. He plans to return to Washington Sunday night.

On Friday Eisenhower hops off for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on the first leg of a campaign stump tour that will take him also to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago.

Build Yard Shelter; Prepared For War

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — If another war comes, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hannum will be prepared. The Hannums are having an air raid shelter built in the back yard of their North Denver home. The shelter, 10 by 14 feet and six feet high, is being built beneath six feet of earth and reinforced concrete. Two entrances will lead into the room, to be stocked with distilled water, canned goods and other necessities. Hannum is a trucker.
